The President Looks Ahead

Announcement of the Sesquicentennial Development Program is a significant event in Maryville College history. In collaboration with Dr. Joe C. Gamble, Chairman of the Board, and with other officers of the College, I prepared and presented to our faculty and students at Chapel on February 16 the formal announcement which now appears in this issue of the Maryville College Bulletin. It was released to the public at a press conference which Dr. Gamble and I held immediately after the chapel service.

Probably the plans in the College's history most nearly paralleling the ones in this present Sesquicentennial Program were those connected with the Centennial Fund during the years preceding the 100th Anniversary in 1919. But there is no record of a previous Maryville College long range plan so comprehensive as is the one we now announce. The blueprint we have developed includes purpose as well as program, people as well as plant, and covers not only the years leading up to our Sesquicentennial, but also years far beyond it.

Changing conditions may require revisions in the blueprint; and the Directors have power, of course, to alter at any time their own decisions. Priorities especially in plant development are subject to modification either because of change of priority in need or because

MARYVILLE COLLEGE DIRECTORS ADOPT SIX MILLION DOLLAR SESQUICENTENNIAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

On Tuesday, February 16, an important announcement was made by Dr. Lloyd at Chapel. This statement describing the Sesquicentennial Development Program is one of the most momentous in the history of the College. The complete text is presented herewith for serious consideration by the Alumni and friends of the College.

A TEN-YEAR PROGRAM

The Directors of Maryville College have adopted a far-reaching Sesquicentennial Development Program, to culminate at the College's 150th Anniversary in 1969.

The program is built around specific essentials in the long range purpose and plans which the Directors have set before the College as to its nature, facilities, and work. It includes the raising of funds totaling $6,000,000 for capital and current uses outlined later in this statement.

This ten-year plan and its goals are based upon studies and recommendations made by a Long Range Planning Committee, appointed in 1956, composed of directors, faculty, and officers of the College; and by the President of the College, and committees and members of the Board. Some elements in the plan have been announced previously; but this present statement constitutes the first public announcement of the program as a whole.

THE 150TH ANNIVERSARY

Maryville College was founded by the Synod of Tennessee of the Presbyterian (now the United Presbyterian) Church in the USA, through a resolution adopted of the special interest of benefactors of the College. But we, as officers and Directors of the College, have drafted what we believe to be the best design possible in light of the facts of today and the known prospects of the future.

As I write this, two important projects lie immediately before us. The first is the Maryville College Day scheduled for March 8, 1960, when an extensive solicitation for current funds will be made in the community. This is the most comprehensive and extensive effort for local current support yet made, and we hope not only for its success this year but for its continuance in future years. The other immediate project is the effort to secure funds for the much needed new science building and the rehabilitation of Fayerweather Science Hall.

The Sesquicentennial Program has roots in all of the past—not merely the period since 1956 when our Long Range Planning Committee began its work; not merely since it became evident college populations would, like general populations, “explode” in the 1960s and 1970s; not merely since World War II which required many revisions of plans; not merely since 1930 when the sixth presidency began (there have been only six presidents in the College’s history of 140 years); but back to the Centennial and to the Semi-Centennial and to the Founding itself. As now announced it is based on facts of the long past and the expectations of the far future. But even more, it is rooted in the conviction that God has a continuing and enlarging essential service for Maryville College to render to the world.

Development Program (Cont'd)

on October 19, 1819. The 50th Anniversary in 1869, three years after the College re-opened following the Civil War, was marked by laying the foundation of Anderson Hall, the first building on the present campus, and by filling the office of President which had been vacant since the outbreak of war in 1861. The 100th Anniversary in 1919 was preceded by the raising of the Centennial Fund of more than a half million dollars, a sum equivalent then to more than twice that now. The 125th Anniversary in 1944 during World War II was observed in a special convocation, but due to the War the celebration had to be very limited. The 140th Anniversary, October 19, 1959, was observed in a significant way by the important action of the Directors, five days later, in adopting the Sesquicentennial goals now announced for the 150th Anniversary in 1969.

Maryville College has a long and honorable history, being among the fifty oldest of the 2,011 colleges and universities in the United States. It now provides courses in twenty-five fields of the liberal arts and sciences; has a Christian faculty of high academic training and a student body from more than forty states and foreign countries; possesses a campus of 375 acres on which there are some twenty buildings; and is accredited by the official, national, regional, and state accrediting bodies. But the future in which the church-related Christian college has an essential role to play presents a challenge to strengthen and expand our program and facilities for service which makes necessary this Sesquicentennial Development Program.

ESSENTIALS IN LONG RANGE PURPOSE

Basic to all major plans for the future is a clear concept of the long range purpose the College aims to achieve. Therefore, the Directors have adopted in substance, as a policy blueprint for the future, a list of essentials in Maryville’s long range purpose. These call for the continuance and further development of Maryville College as:

A private (non-tax-supported), coeducational, four-year college of liberal arts and sciences, conferring the bachelor’s degree, with due regard to the possibilities of vocational preparation within the framework of its basic curriculum;

An accredited college academically, not only meeting but surpassing the minimum standards of the accrediting bodies; with a faculty superior in training, ability, and Christian character; with admission policies which give quality priority over quantity and include the continued strengthening of entrance requirements;

A Christian college in its announced purpose, character, program, and results; a college related, as it has been since its founding in 1819, to the (United) Presbyterian Church in the USA; a college in which qualified persons may be accepted as students, faculty, and directors without discrimination because of race or color;

A college of limited size, but with a schedule of increases from the present total enrollment of 750 to 900 in five years and 1,000 in ten years, with the expectation that the proportion residing in campus dormitories will continue to average approximately eighty per cent of the total student body;

A college financially within reach of qualified students of moderate means as well as those of ample means, with such revisions in details as may be deemed wise in light of changing conditions and of Maryville’s historic policies of reasonable charges and organized student aid.

FINANCIAL OBJECTIVES

The goal of $6,000,000, established by the Directors as part of the Sesquicentennial Development Program, includes three principal objectives. One consists of the cumulative ten-year total of necessary annual current funds; the second is additional endowment as a source of current funds; and the third is for buildings and other physical facilities. These may be described as follows:

1. ADDITIONAL CURRENT OPERATING INCOME, with ten-year objectives that call for a 100% increase in the College’s salary budget, through regular annual advances, within an 80% over-all increase in the Educational and General Operating budget. The cumulative total of these current funds over the ten-year period is estimated at $2½ million. Substantial and continuous increase in operating budget is absolutely essential if the College is to meet the demands and the challenge of the coming decade. Although the academic program is now highly accredited, its quality must continue to be improved and its scope expanded; College salaries must be raised as rapidly as possible to levels comparable to those of other spheres of service, and then advanced as national standards advance; instruction, library service, and residence facilities must be made available for increasing numbers of students; and if the past trends are indications of the future, costs in general will increase rather than decrease. All of this represents service to people, which is the primary purpose of all assets and efforts of a college like Maryville.

These necessary current funds are to be realized from three sources: (1) earnings of additional endowments as provided in the second financial objective described later in this statement; (2) additional student fees, through increased enrollment and/or increased charges; and (3) additional gifts for current use. The proportion required from current gifts will depend to a considerable degree on the amount of additional income realized from new endowment and student fees. However, the present advance estimate is that in each of the next ten years it will be necessary to obtain in current gifts $20,000 more than had been received in the preceding year.

II. ADDITIONAL ENDOWMENT—$1,500,000. A college's endowment funds, soundly invested, constitute a primary assured source of income. The Directors have set a Sesquicentennial goal of $1,500,000 in additional endowment, which, on the basis of the College's present investment earnings, will add approximately $75,000 a year to the College's current operating income. This is an absolutely necessary part of the additional current operative income projected in the first financial objective. The present endowment is approximately $3,100,000 (market price), and the amount in the Sesquicentennial goal will bring the total to more than four and one-half million dollars, a ten-year increase of almost fifty per cent.

III. FOR A TEN-YEAR PLAN OF COLLEGE PLANT DEVELOPMENT—$2,000,000. The present college campus of 375 acres and the existing buildings and facilities are carried on the books at a conservative figure of $4,300,000. To meet the immediate and the long range needs of the future, the Directors, since completion of the Chapel in 1954, have approved twenty-eight major building and plant improvement projects, as listed below. Of these, the first seventeen (including Nos. 1-9 completed before 1960) have been given priority in the ten years leading up to the 150th Anniversary in 1969.

Buildings and Improvements Completed Before 1960

(1) First new women's dormitory (completed 1959)	$ 427,000
(2) First new women's dormitory furnishings	34,000
(3) First new women's dormitory walks, drives, grading, etc.	8,300
(4) Carnegie Hall rehabilitation (completed 1958)	148,000
(5) Pearsons Hall rehabilitation (completed 1959)	68,000
(6) McLain Memorial Hall rehabilitation (completed 1959)	55,000
(7) Baldwin Hall necessary repairs (made 1959)	4,000
(8) New steam line ($27,000, less $7,000 included in new dormitory costs) (for Pearsons Hall and two future buildings)	20,700
(9) Costs: U. S. Government $11,000; Interest $15,000	26,000
		$ 791,000
Total cost of Projects 1-9 above		$ 791,000
Funds available: U. S. Government loan	$450,000
Dormitory Fund (gifts)	206,000	656,000
		656,000
Balance to be provided		$ 135,000

Future Buildings and Major Improvements
With Priority Through 1969

(10) New science building, equipped	$ 450,000
(11) Fayerweather Science Hall rehabilitation	125,000
(12) Art wing addition, Fine Arts Center	25,000
(13) New maintenance building	30,000
(14) New north entrance	10,000
(15) Second new women's dormitory, furnished	450,000
(16) First new men's dormitory, furnished	450,000
(17) New student center	325,000
	$1,865,000
Total estimated cost of Projects 10-17 above	$1,865,000
Total new funds required by 1969, for Projects 1-17	$2,000,000

Other Approved Long Range Projects

(18) New library; (19) Bartlett Hall rehabilitated; (20) Dining Hall Annex; (21) New infirmary; (22) Thaw Hall first floor remodeled; (23) Third new women's dormitory; (24) Baldwin Hall removed; (25) Physical education building; (26) Administration and classroom building; (27) Anderson Hall first floor remodeled; (28) Chapel bell tower.
(Estimated total cost of these Other Approved Long Range Projects—$2,000,000.)

Campus Master Plan

The Directors have approved a campus plan to provide a regulative pattern for the location of future buildings and developments listed in Projects Nos. 1-28 above. Top priority has been given to the construction of a new science building and the rehabilitation of the present Fayerweather Science Hall.

THE PAST TEN YEARS

The development record of the decade from 1949 to 1959 includes: (1) increasing the average instructional salaries 65% plus additional benefits such as Social Security and major medical insurance for all faculty and staff, and increasing the total operating budget 35%; (2) adding something more than $600,000 to the Endowment; (3) constructing and furnishing the Fine Arts Center at a cost of approximately $450,000, given by an alumnus and his wife; (4) constructing and equipping the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel and Theater at a cost of approximately $695,000, all of which has now been provided except $217,000; (5) paying off an overdraft of approximately $95,000 on the heating plant which had been completed in the preceding decade; (6) rehabilitating Carnegie, Memorial, and Pearsons Residence Halls at a cost of approximately $275,000, provided by a U. S. Government loan and gifts; (7) constructing and furnishing a new women's dormitory at a cost of approximately $465,000, provided by gifts and a U. S. Government loan.

Thus the 1950s have constituted a notable decade in the College's development, and have given direction and impetus to the yet greater plans for the 1960s which will culminate in the Maryville College Sesquicentennial.

THE NEXT TEN YEARS

We enter on this Sesquicentennial decade grateful to God and to generous friends for the progress of the College to this time, and with expectancy that yet greater progress and service lie ahead. We look with confidence to generous individual friends, philanthropic foundations, business corporations, churches, students and their families, and alumni, who recognize in Maryville a soundly established and forward looking private, church-related, Christian college, which is of strategic importance in this unprecedented era of higher education in America.

Alumni Day-- May 14, 1960

With the announcement of the Sesquicentennial Development Program in this issue of the Maryville College Bulletin, the annual Alumni Day observance this year takes on special significance. In addition to the normal urge to meet classmates and reminisce over the good old days, there is the incentive this year to hear of the latest happenings on campus, particularly as they relate to the Development Program.

As early as February first, the Class of 1925, the 35-year Class, was busy sending out letters to class members urging attendance at the reunion on the 14th of May. James W. King, Dr. Fred A. Griffiths, and Doris Musick were the loyal alumni of the 35-year Class who started the ball rolling.

Col. E. Newman Smith, President of the 25-year Class, has already been in touch with Ernie B. Lowe in Maryville and with the Alumni Office to get plans under way for a large attendance of the Class of 1935.

Jim Etheridge, President of the 20-year Class, has also been in touch with the Alumni Office in an effort to get an early start with reunion plans for his Class.

Letters have gone out from the Alumni Office to all Presidents of the reunion classes, suggesting that if the Office can be of help in contacting class members, every effort will be made to give one hundred per cent cooperation.

The names and addresses of the officers of the Five and Ten year classes involved in the 1960 reunions are as follows:

Where Lies the Responsibility?

By The Hon. Joe C. Gamble

Chairman, Board of Directors, Maryville College

Elsewhere in this issue is the report of an announcement by the Directors of the College of perhaps the most important step taken by the College since the turn of the century. I refer to the announcement made by the President at Chapel on February 16, 1960, of the Sesquicentennial Celebration of the College to be held in 1969 and of the program that has and will lead up to it.

A great part of the program deals with financial objectives gained and to be gained—but not all. It has to do with spirit, with superior teaching, with academic excellence, and with moral standards. For all of these the College continues to strive and I wish all Alumni could see as I am able to see, the strong young faculty men and women who are stepping into the places of those faculty members whom so many of us knew to be great. I wish also that you could see the great student body of this year and the spirit that prevails on the campus.

The financial program, the success of which is necessary for the attainment of the objectives of the College is a continuing one, and as you will notice from the announcement, is not a program just now starting but is a continuance of special emphasis which has been in progress since the Fine Arts Center was built and has continued with the building of the new Chapel and Theatre, the new girls' dormitory, and the rehabilitation of Carnegie, Memorial and Pearsons. But this financial program must continue with the next major building objective, the financing of a new science building. Through all the building program and probably paramount to it must also be the strengthening of the endowment of the College and the increasing of current gifts so that the offerings at the College will be equal or superior to the physical plant.

Where will be the responsibility for this financial program? Well, for its organization and presentation, the College Administration will have to lead as it has and will, but leadership is not enough. The Directors are responsible but unlike many College directorates, they are not wealthy persons but they have moved toward their responsibility. The local community is responsible and toward accepting responsibility, the first Maryville College Day in the College Community is being planned for March 8, 1960. The Church is responsible and year by year our own Church is giving more attention to its responsibility to the various church related colleges, including Maryville. But most of all, the Alumni are responsible—not only by their own gifts but by the contacts which they may have and will make for the College with persons or foundations with money. I am sure that every Alumnus of Maryville has contacts with at least one person or foundation with money to give to good causes. Let us all make friends for Maryville during the next ten years.

THE NEW SCIENCE HALL

On page one is the architect's rendering of the proposed new science building which will consist of a basement, a ground floor designed primarily for Physics and Earth Sciences, a second floor designed for Chemistry and Research, and a separate but connected amphitheatre type lecture hall of 175 seats, available to all departments of the College. The architect's drawings on page four give a good idea of the main features of the structure.

A covered passageway to Fayerweather Science Hall will connect the new building. Fayerweather is scheduled for extensive remodeling and re-equipping to provide laboratory and other facilities primarily for Biology, Psychology, and Home Economics. Preliminary estimates of combined costs, as seen in the Sesquicentennial Development schedule, are in the neighborhood of $575,000.

. . . Alumni News . . .

In view of the importance of the announcement of the Sesquicentennial Development Program, it was decided to delay the printing of the February issue of the Maryville College Bulletin in order to include the complete statement made by Dr. Lloyd. An Alumni issue of the Bulletin was due in March. In view of the delay of the February issue, it seemed inadvisable to publish two issues only two weeks apart. This issue, therefore, represents the regular February Bulletin combined with the March issue. The latter was scheduled to include Alumni News which is printed in this combination issue.

The next Bulletin will be distributed in April. The next issue containing Alumni News will be the August issue. Material should be received in the Alumni Office by the fifteenth of the month preceding publication.

DEATHS

Miss Lula G. Darby died February 3, 1960, and was buried on February 6. She had been on the staff of the Maryville College dining hall from 1913 to 1934. Survivors include a sister, Miss Martha Darby, who was matron of Maryville College's Lamar Memorial Infirmary during the year 1920-1921.

Mrs. William Sawtelle died October 6, 1959. She taught music at Maryville College from 1897 to 1899 and was the author of the Alma Mater.

Mrs. Hill Shine, wife of a former professor of English at Maryville College, died January 20, 1960, at Oak Ridge Hospital. Funeral services were held at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Oak Ridge. Dr. Shine is now a professor of English at the University of Kentucky.

Roy Lowry, Prep. '08, died November 17, 1959, at the age of 72. Survivors include a cousin, Bernice Lowry Park, '16, of Maryville.

Professor John Evarts Tracy, '01, died December 31, 1959, at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Michigan. He had been a member of the University Law School faculty for twenty years, 1930-1950, and was a former member of Ann Arbor City Council. Professor Tracy was an authority on corporation law and was known internationally for his work in explaining the application of law to the medical profession. His widely read book, The Doctor As a Witness, was published in 1957. Professor Tracy received the LL.D. degree from Maryville College in 1921.

Dr. Henry Callaway, ex '17, died of a heart attack at his home in Maryville on December 6, 1959. He was a graduate of the Vanderbilt School of Medicine and had been a practicing surgeon for twenty-nine years. Survivors include a brother, Dr. Lea Callaway, '32, mayor of Maryville.

Rollis Addison Huffstetler, Jr., '36, died November 28, 1959, in Orangeburg, South Carolina. He was formerly from Blount County.

DEBATE TEAM WINS HONORS IN STATE MEET

The Tennessee Intercollegiate Forensic Tournament was held in Maryville on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, February 11-13. Most of the events were held in the First Baptist Church, but registration, opening night debates, and the annual banquet were held on the College campus.

Nearly one hundred and fifty students from thirteen colleges and universities participated. Carson-Newman, Cumberland University, David Lipscomb, East Tennessee State, Freed-Hardeman, Lee College, Lincoln Memorial, Maryville, Memphis State, Middle Tennessee State, Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, the University of Tennessee, and Vanderbilt had entries.

Dr. Arda Walker's Maryville debaters took second place in Sweepstakes events, with David Lipscomb first and T.P.I. third.

The Maryville women's debate team was judged the top women's team in the tournament. Judy Null and Arlene Ford were the winning team. In original oratory, Judy Null and Joyce Williams teamed up to win first and second places, respectively. Dale Young took third place in after-dinner speaking.

In the best debator's award, Judy Null took second place, with Arlene Ford and Joyce Williams tied for third. The Maryville junior men's team, Don Jackman and Dennis Miller, tied three other schools with four victories and one loss. When the tie was broken on the basis of points, the Maryville team placed fourth.

Finalists in other events were Judy Wiley, impromptu; Dennis Miller, impromptu; and Marianne Kramer, extempore.

THE CHOIR TOUR FOR 1960

The Maryville College Choir, under the direction of Harry H. Harter, will leave on Thursday, March 10, for its annual spring tour. This year, the Choir will appear in five states and the District of Columbia, traveling more than 2,000 miles in 14 days. The first concert will be in Kingsport on March 10, the final appearance is scheduled for Snow Hill, Maryland, on the 21st.

On Sunday, March 13, the Choir will sing at three churches in Philadelphia, the following Sunday, it will appear at two morning services at National Presbyterian Church in Washington, and at Hyattsville and Wheaton, Maryland, that afternoon and evening. Tentative plans call for alumni reunions and a reception for the Choir on Saturday, March 12, in Philadelphia, and on Saturday, March 19, in Washington.

The itinerary follows:

March 10, Kingsport, Tennessee; March 11, Vienna, Virginia; March 13, Tabernacle Presbyterian Church, Drexel Hill Presbyterian Church, and Mayfair Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia; March 14, Hightstown, New Jersey; March 15, Dover, New Jersey; March 16, South River, New Jersey; March 17, New Milford, New Jersey; March 18, Elizabeth, New Jersey; March 20, National Presbyterian Church, Washington, D. C., Hyattsville, Maryland, Wheaton, Maryland; March 21, Snow Hill, Maryland.

The Choir will sing at Second Presbyterian Church in Knoxville on Sunday, February 21, at the annual Maryville College Sunday observances there. Pre-tour appearances are also scheduled for Harriman and Rockwood on March 6.

Dr. Lloyd will preach at National Presbyterian Church when the Choir is presented there on March 20.

The Maryville College Choir will be featured in June and July on the Protestant Hour for ten consecutive weeks. The program is carried by more than three hundred and sixty radio stations throughout the United States.

INVESTMENT SEMINAR

An investment Seminar sponsored by the Development Office has had outstanding success in the past few weeks. Nearly one hundred and thirty men and women registered on the opening night, Monday, January 11. There has been a total attendance of more than one hundred and fifty.

Topics which have been considered include the following: The Business Cycle and Inflation; The Mechanics of Security Markets in the United States; How to Find and Evaluate Financial Information; Common and Preferred Stocks; Municipal and Government Bonds; Mutual Funds; and Income Taxes and Estate Planning.

Lecturers have included Dr. Robert A. Lynn and Mr. E. Newell Witherspoon of the Maryville College faculty; and speakers furnished by the following co-operating business firms: J. C. Bradford and Company, Knoxville, members of the New York Stock Exchange; Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc., Nashville office, members of the New York Stock Exchange; Abbott, Proctor, and Paine, Knoxville, members of the New York Stock Exchange; Davidson and Company, Inc., Knoxville; Hamilton National Bank, Knoxville; Waddell and Reed, Inc., Clinton, South Carolina; and Kramer, Dye, McNabb and Greenwood, Knoxville.

The course, which is not offered for college credit, will conclude on February 29.

CHANGES IN COLLEGE CALENDAR AND COSTS TO STUDENTS

The new catalog, announcing courses, charges, and calendar for the college year of 1960-1961 is now going to press and will be delivered in about four or five weeks.

The calendar for the next academic year contains an important change in the opening and closing dates of the two semesters. The first semester will open on September 13, 1960, and close on January 24; the second semester will open on January 27 and close with Commencement on May 31.

After a considerable experience with closing the first semester before the Christmas holidays, this change has been made in order to equalize the length of the two semesters. Even though College has started very early in the fall under the former system, there has been no way to get enough time for a standard semester before Christmas. The new plan will give more time in September to get ready for the opening day of College and still will keep Commencement earlier than that at most colleges.

Another announcement of the new Catalog of interest to all students of next year and to alumni will be some revision in tuition and the cost of room and board. Beginning next fall, tuition will be $240 per semester, and there will be a slight increase in room and board, amounting to $5 per semester for room and $5 per semester for board. The total costs are still below those in almost all first-rank private colleges in America and very much below those in a large proportion of colleges, especially those in the North and the East. Approximately sixty per cent of all small liberal arts colleges in the United States are raising fees for the year 1960-1961.

TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS PLEDGED ON FRED HOPE DAY

More than $2,000 was pledged by students and faculty members at the annual Fred Hope Day program in Chapel on January 27.

Miss Emma Curtis, instructor in physical education, and Phyllis Stine, Terry Lee Dick, and Nancy Jo Martin, Maryville College students, participated in the program as representatives of the YM-YWCA Committee on Ecumenical Encounters who will go next summer to Africa in the unique Operations Crossroads project for which the Fred Hope fund is being raised this year.

In the past, the Fred Hope fund has given Maryville College students the opportunity to share with other people all over the world. The project for 1960 is unique in that the students themselves will visit foreign countries. With one hundred and fifty students from thirty other colleges and universities, the Maryville College representatives will spend a week in June at a camp in New Hampshire, then fly to London for another week of briefing, and finally will spend nearly six weeks in Africa at work camp sites in the interior.

To help finance the project, which will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000, the YM-YWCA Committee on Ecumenical Encounters, with the help of the proceeds of the annual Barnwarming in November and a substantial gift on a matching basis from an anonymous donor, had realized about $1,600 before the Fred Hope Day program. The pledges of $2,000 on that occasion, with the possibility that still more may be pledged, make it appear that the goal may be reached shortly.

Miss Nancy Jo Martin, in discussing the project before the students, characterized Operation Crossroads as a symbol of "our concern for others. It is an effort to build a bridge of understanding and truth."

"Africa is becoming a vital force in the world today," said Miss Stine. "There are two hundred and twenty million people in an area four times that of the United States. And unfortunately, Islam is making ten converts to every one that is made for Christianity."

Susan Allen Green Black

Mrs. Louis A. Black, who before her marriage in 1946 was Miss Susan Allen Green, died at the age of 79 in a nursing home near Maryville on January 23, 1960.

The funeral service was held January 24 in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center, on the campus, by President Ralph W. Lloyd, and Rev. Dr. Barnett S. Eby, Pastor of New Providence Presbyterian Church, Maryville. Interment was in the Maryville College Cemetery near the graves of Dr. Horace E. Orr, Miss Mary E. (Miss "Molly") Caldwell, and former Treasurer Fred L. Proffit.

"Miss Green" was known and esteemed by eleven generations of Maryville College students. A native of Massachusetts, a graduate of Smith College, holding the Master's degree from the University of Chicago, she was Professor of Biology at Maryville College from 1906 until her retirement in 1950.

Soon after retirement she suffered a stroke which made her an invalid for the remaining ten years of her life. She is survived by her husband, Mr. Louis A. Black, who was Director of Maintenance at the College from 1931 until 1953.

Her service of 44 years as a teacher in Maryville College is notable both for its quality and for its length. Only three persons in the College's history of 140 years have served longer: Mr. Ernest C. Brown ("Brownie") still college Engineer, has now completed 49 years on the staff; Dr. Samuel Tyndale Wilson, who retired in 1930 and died in 1944, was a Professor for 17 years and President for 29 years, a total of 46 years; Professor E. R. Walker, who retired five years ago and is living in Maryville, also served 46 years.

In 1930 Maryville College conferred upon her the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters (L.H.D.), the first honorary doctor's degree ever given by Maryville to a woman.

When the College adopted the present divisional curriculum organization plan, Mrs. Black (then Miss Green) was appointed Chairman of the Division of Science and held that position until her retirement.

A prize fund to be known as the Susan Allen Green Scholarship Prize Fund was set up by Mrs. Black in 1943. The income from this fund is to be awarded annually to the most outstanding and promising member of the junior class majoring in biology. The award will be made for the first time in May, 1960.

Since her death various persons have sent memorial gifts to the Maryville College Chapel Organ Fund in the hope that others of her many former students and friends will do likewise. Mr. Black and the officers of the College are deeply grateful, for this is a real and continuing need.

WESTERN WASHINGTON HONORS DR. WILLIAM WADE HAGGARD, '17

A tradition at Western Washington College in Bellingham, Washington, that no building on the campus is named for an individual, was broken last fall when the trustees of the college voted to name a new $2,500,000 science building for Dr. William Wade Haggard, '17, who retired last year after serving as President of Western Washington for a period of twenty years.

Dr. Haggard, who was born in Maryville, was a member of the Class of 1917. He showed promise while on the Maryville College campus of the ability which was to make him a nationally known figure in the field of higher education. In fact, a prophetic understatement appears in the 1917 year-book as follows: "We expect to hear of his being dean of a Christian college or a similar institution some day." He was secretary of the junior class, secretary of Alpha Sigma, then president, president of the Wilson Club in his senior year, president of the Carnegie Hall Students' Council in his senior year, president of the College Debating Council, and an assistant in psychology in 1916-17.

After graduation, Dr Haggard taught in the secondary schools of Michigan and Illinois for a number of years. In 1927, he received his A.M. at the University of Michigan. In 1928, he became superintendent of schools in Joliet, Illinois. He achieved national recognition and in 1931, was elected vice president of the National Association of High School Principals. In the following year, he became President of the Association. In 1937, he received his Ph.D at the University of Chicago, and in 1939, became President of Western Washington College.

Board Chairman Joseph Pemberton of Western Washington noted at the dedication ceremonies last fall that when Dr. Haggard first came to Bellingham, the college was a "rather obscure school." Under his direction, it became a leading educational institution. The enrollment at Western, primarily a teachers' college, is more than 2,000 students, according to the 1958-59 U. S. Directory of Higher Education.

The dedication of the W. W. Haggard Hall of Science came as a complete surprise to Dr. Haggard. Correspondence may be addressed to him at 519 Oak St., Bellingham, Washington.

The 1960 February Meetings

The Rev. Dr. Raymond V. Kearns, Jr., pastor of the Broad Street Presbyterian Church in Columbus, Ohio, was the leader of the February Meetings for 1960, held daily from February 3 through February 11. This was the 84th year of the Meetings, which rank among the oldest spiritual emphasis programs in American colleges.

Speaking on the general theme Your Faith and Your Life, Dr. Kearns challenged his listeners with a series of penetrating, yet simple and straightforward, analyses of the questions which daily perplex the professing Christian.

"How can we face the future with confidence? How can we comprehend God? Where is God? Why do we pray? Who is the unpurchasable man?" These were some of the basic questions which Dr. Kearns posed and discussed with deliberation and simplicity. One of the most outstanding pastors and ministers to college students of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA, Dr. Kearns was eminently qualified by training and experience to make an impressive contribution to the historic Meetings, and students and faculty were in complete agreement that his mission was truly outstanding. In addition to serving pastorates in Washington and Kansas, Dr. Kearns had been Director of the Westminster Foundation at the University of Nebraska, had served as Director of the Department of Adult Work of the Board of Christian Education, and since 1953, has served as pastor of Broad Street Presbyterian Church in Columbus. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the College of Wooster, is a vice president of the Commission of Ecumenical Mission and Relations of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA, and serves in many other significant positions.

Assisting in the Meetings were Mr. Donald R. Mathis, minister of music at the First Presbyterian Church of St. Petersburg, Florida, as song leader, and Dr. Henry (Barrie) Barraclough, assistant stated clerk of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA, who served as piano accompanist for the ninth year.

In addition to preaching twice daily, Dr. Kearns conducted individual conferences with a large number of students, held several group discussions after the evening services, and met with students in the dormitories for further counsel.

Mr. Mathis, in his first visit to Maryville as song leader, did a magnificent job of interpreting many of the hymns, giving interesting background and historical data on them, and providing inspiring leadership in the actual singing. Dr. Barraclough, the incomparable accompanist who has endeared himself to Maryville students for many years in previous visits, provided a vigorous musical background, with excellent assistance by Mr. Robert Triplett, of the music faculty, at the Holtkamp organ.

Basketball Team Winning Thrillers

The Maryville College basketball team in its first year under Coach Boydson H. Baird has enjoyed an excellent season, winning eleven and losing seven as the Bulletin goes to press. Four games in five nights at the very close of the season will tell the final story, but regardless of the outcome, the Highlanders have done a magnificent job.

Starting slowly, they lost to Milligan then reversed things with a victory the following week. After dropping a game to Sewanee, Maryville rolled to successive triumphs over undefeated Tennessee Wesleyan, Tusculum, Emory and Henry, King College — twice in three nights, Hiwassee, Sewanee, and a spine-tingler with Tennessee Wesleyan, 62-57. Tusculum threw a monkey-wrench in the machinery with a 79-70 victory at Tusculum after the Scots had put eight successive victories together.

Then came a spell of the flu, with two cancellations, followed by victory over Carson-Newman by a 65-56 score. Then came a four-game losing streak, an overtime loss to Chattanooga, an unexpected beating by Cumberland, a costly loss to U. T. Frosh in which George Herron suffered a dislocated ankle, and a drubbing by Carson-Newman, 78-71. The team got back in the groove against Hiwassee, coming from behind to roar to a 77-69 win.

Maryville has had a tremendous one-two-three-four punch this year, with Tom Morris, Bob Carpenter, Bill Owenby, and George Herron hitting the cords in the double figures with consistency. Morris is averaging 20 points per game, Carpenter is right behind with a 15 average, followed by Owenby and Herron. Freshman Fred Porter, a find at guard and a tremendous floor man, has hit double figures on occasion also.

It has been a great season, with fine competitive spirit, good support from the students, two capacity houses at basketball-wrestling double-headers, and plenty of promise for a great year in 1960-61.

Fred Porter, 5'7" guard, goes high in the air in the Highlander's second victory over powerful Tennessee Wesleyan.

Special

Tom Morris, Maryville College senior, scored 57 points in the final game of the 1959-1960 basketball season, setting a new College individual scoring record and sparking the team to a convincing come-from-behind victory over the University of Chattanooga by a score of 90-83. Morris finished the season with a total of 497 points and a four-year scoring total of 1,611 points, also a new College scoring record at Maryville. The team finished the season with a 14-8 record.

Coach John A. (J. D.) Davis' matmen finished third in the Southeastern Intercollegiate Wrestling championship held at Maryville on February 26-27. Defending champion Auburn was first, with the University of Chattanooga second. Jim Baxter won the 115-pound championship, scoring one of the four pins in the finals. Stewart Johnson was second in the 147-pound class, while Don White, in the 167-pound class, Don McFerron, in the 177-pound class, and Art Fairchild, wrestling in the heavyweight division, all took thirds.

A tense moment in the match between Auburn and Maryville.

WRESTLING TEAM POINTS FOR TOURNAMENT

Starting with only two or three performers from last year's wrestling team which finished second in the Southeastern Tournament, Coach John A. (J. D.) Davis has developed his squad into a strong unit which will give plenty of trouble to the opposition in the Tournament which will be held this year in the Alumni Gym on Friday and Saturday, February 26 and 27.

The Highlanders started as usual with the powerful Knoxville YMCA team and lost. Two weeks later, they turned the tables on the Y and came out victorious. Losses followed to the University of Chattanooga, Auburn, Appalachian State, and in a return match with Chattanooga, a real thriller which the Mocs won by 14-13. The Highlanders then ran rough-shod over Birmingham-Southern and triumphed over Emory University by a 17-16 score.

Going into the tournament with a three-and-five record, Maryville's hopes will ride on the smaller men, particularly little Jim Baxter, 123-pound freshman who has won five straight matches by pinning his opponent, including last year's champ from Chattanooga, and Auburn's entry. Other consistent winners have been Charles Crissman, 137-pound entry; Bill Hartman, 157-pounder, and Art Fairchild, heavyweight who has been improving steadily.
